Bottom line, Jordan Rainer is without a doubt the "real deal". She has been praised by Reba McEntire for her work ethic, authenticity, and refreshingly country voice, and endorsed by Wynonna Judd as an act that "country music badly needs today". A 10 year Nashville veteran, Jordan has a deep catalog of songs penned with the finest songwriters in the world and has honed her creative and performance skills to be able to match anyone in the major artist arena today. Her fans are loyal and growing in number, and her drive makes her a force to be reckoned with. She is a darling of Texas radio, a beloved and heavily supported member of the Chickasaw Nation of Oklahoma, and a highly respected picker and singer among Nashville's most decorated players.

Additionally, Jordan's talents go beyond music. She is an internet personality who has gone viral on TikTok dozens of times over with her storytelling, comedy and personality, garnering national TV discussion and interviews on programs such as the Tamron Hall Show and The Tom Segura Podcast.
